DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

It is noted that Applicant agreed to cancel “Fig. 14” in the reply filed on 12/05/08.

Claim Objections

Claim 7 objected to because of the following informalities:

It is recommended that “to and information processing device” be inserted after “information” in line 2 in order to give proper antecedent basis to the term recited in line 4.

Appropriate correction is required.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments, see pages 11-12, filed 12/05/08, with respect to claims 1-18 have been fully considered and are generally persuasive. Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 2003-067289, "A Web Advertisement Delivery System" (hereinafter referred to as JP '289) in view of JP-2003-242018 (hereinafter referred to as JP '018).

For example, JP '289 discloses:

1. An information processing device (e.g., Fig. 1 #21) for receiving service advertisement information, comprising:

transmission means for transmitting user identification information which identifies users, a password, and device identification information which identifies the information processing device to a management device which manages the information processing device (e.g., paragraphs 11, 23);

receiving means for receiving registration completion information which indicates that said user identification information, said password and said device identification information were associated with each other and registered at said management device (e.g., paragraphs 11, 23);

storage means for storing at least said device identification information (e.g., Fig. 1 #21);

control means for controlling said transmission means to transmit ~~device attribute information which indicates the attributes of said information processing device and request~~ information which requests the service advertisement information in the event that said device identification information is not stored in said storage means (e.g., paragraphs 12, 24), wherein said receiving means receives the service advertisement information ~~corresponding to said device attribute information~~ in response to said request information (e.g., paragraphs 12, 24).

2. The information processing device according to claim 1, wherein said service advertisement information is information that prompts user registration with said management device (e.g., paragraphs 12, 24).

3. The information processing device according to claim 1, wherein said service advertisement information is information that prompts registration for services linked from said management device (e.g., paragraphs 12, 24).

Art Unit: 2121

JP '289 does not explicitly disclose that the control means transmits device attribute information to the management device which indicates the attributes of said information processing device, such that the management device is able to transmit the service information corresponding to the device attribute information, as called for by claim 1 (and the other independent claims).

Correspondingly, JP '289 also does not disclose:

4. The information processing device according to claim 1, wherein said device attribute information includes performance of a display device on which said service advertisement information is displayed.

5. The information processing device according to claim 1, wherein said device attribute information includes memory capacity of a storage device in which said service advertisement information is stored.

6. The information processing device according to claim 1, wherein said device attribute information includes information regarding the presence of a battery.

(and the features of dependent claims 15-17)

Art Unit: 2121

JP '018 discloses these features in the context of a client/server exchange (e.g., [0003], [0022]-[0026], [0037], [0051]-[0055]).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify JP '289 with JP '018 since all the claimed elements were known in the prior art and one skilled in the art could have combined the elements as claimed by known methods with no change in their respective functions, and the combination would have yielded predictable results to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention. See KSR v. Teleflex, 127 S.Ct. 1727 (2007).

One would have been motivated to make such a modification since JP '018 teaches that such a modification provides a comfortable service to a client by preventing a mismatch between a the client's processing performance and the data supplied to said client (e.g., [0004]).

Art Unit: 2121

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
